

BRIEF WRITE-UP FOR CCTP

The Department of Special Education offers various services for children with communication disorders. These services help these children to develop the skills necessary for them to be successful in the mainstream set-up. In the process of teaching the children, the parents are also encouraged to develop their skills necessary to help their children learn better. For meeting this objectives, the Department offers a program named 'Caregivers Computer Training Program' , wherein the parents are taught the basics of computers and few other applications for helping them to teach their children better and equip themselves for becoming digital literate. AIISH is grateful towards the kind gesture of The Management, Frauacher Sensor Technology India Pvt. Ltd. Mysore for donating us with the ten desktops as a part of CSR for providing quality based computer training for the 24 parents who have enrolled for this program. We are sure this contribution will empower the parents for helping their children learn better.
